Elections - Historical Notes

Districts - Reapportionment

The acts listed below have affected the civil districts in Wilson County, but are no longer operative regarding elections.

1. Public Acts of 1835-36, Chapter 1, was passed subsequent to the adoption of the new State Constitution. This Act directed the General Assembly by Resolution to appoint five suitable persons in each county as Commissioners to lay out the civil districts for their county according to the population count of 1833 and territory. Each county having 3,000 or more qualified voters would be divided into 25 civil districts; between 2,500 and 3,000 voters in a county would call for 20 civil districts and so on down to the minimum of eight civil districts. Two Justices of the Peace and one Constable would be elected in each District except the one containing the county town which would have three Justices of the Peace and two Constables. The Commissioners were to take advantage of the natural contours and features of the land in laying out the districts. Resolution #3, Page 196, named George Williamson, George Smith, William Williams, Silas Tarver, and _____ Paulding as the Commissioners for Wilson County.
2. Private Acts of 1929, Chapter 887, rearranged the boundaries between the Second and Fourth Civil Districts in Wilson County so that the lands of Lee Burton, Will Oldham, A. B. Jenkins, Arrington Jenkins, W. J. Johnson, P. G. Willis, J. W. Willis, Shely Foutch, Bob Northern, _____ Sanford, J. B. Tubb, Hilton Tubb, Early Bay, Charles Bay, Charles Thompson, Gordon Thompson, and John Thompson would all hereafter be a part of the Fourth Civil District.

Elections

The following is a listing of acts for Wilson County which affected the elective process, but which have been superseded or repealed. They are listed here for historical and reference purposes.

1. Acts of 1799, Chapter 46, named people in each county who would meet in Nashville to select the three Presidential Electors from Tennessee. In the Mero District, Michael C. Sweetman, John Harpole and John Alcorn were appointed to represent Wilson County. All those chosen in the Mero District would meet at Nashville in 1800.
2. Acts of 1801, Chapter 43, provided for the election of U. S. Congressmen from Tennessee. Wilson County was in the Mero District and all the polls would be returned to Nashville.
3. Acts of 1801, Chapter 44, anticipating that the U. S. Congress would increase the number of Representatives allotted to the State, proclaimed the State to be one district and that candidates would run throughout the State. This Act would only apply until the end of the next session of the General Assembly.
4. Acts of 1803, Chapter 24, set up five Presidential Electoral Districts in the State. The 4th Electoral District was composed of the counties of Jackson, Smith, Wilson and Sumner. All the votes would be canvassed at Bledsoeborough in Smith County.
5. Acts of 1805, Chapter 64, apportioned the 13 Senators and 26 Representatives in the General Assembly of Tennessee. Wilson County and Sumner County would have the same Senator, and Wilson County would have one Representative alone.
6. Acts of 1807, Chapter 74, designated the five Presidential Electoral Districts in the State for the election scheduled on the second Thursday in November, 1808. The counties of Smith, Jackson, Overton, White, Sumner, Wilson, Warren, and Franklin were all assigned to the Fourth Electoral District whose votes would be returned to Carthage in Smith County.
7. Acts of 1807, Chapter 89, provided for a separate election to be held at the house where Solomon George now lives at the head of Bradley's Creek.
